WHALING LOOKOUT—The Old Whaling Station balcony overlooks Monterey Bay and from 1855, the year the adobe was built, lookouts used a system of flags from the balcony to direct the whaling ships entering the Bay. It's the second stop on the "Walk Through History" on Saturday.

Historical Vignettes Feature 39th 'Walk Through History'

The 39th annual adobe tour sponsored by the Monterey History and Art Association will be the first official event of the 1½-year-long California Bicentennial celebration season, and will start at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Apr. 26, with the tours continuing until 5 p.m.

The association has chosen 12 of Monterey's historic buildings that best lend themselves as backgrounds to the city's heritage, and around these 12 buildings has built a number of "live and in color" costumed vignettes of early California.

The tour will begin from the now-under-construction Old World Plaza in front of the old Customs House, and the history and art group is hopeful that the plaza will be far enough toward completion that formal dedication ceremonies can be held on the tour day.

Governor Reagan, Mayor Minnie B. Coyle and federal and state legislators and officials have been invited and are expected to attend.

The Monterey History and Art Association was formed in 1930, and the first official function of the group was the initial adobe tour the same year.

This year the tour route takes the walker to California's first brick house located on Decatur Street, where miners will be panning for gold in a running stream.

The Old Whaling Station is the second stop, then to Pacific and California's First Theater, built in 1846, where costumed Barbary Coast Dance Hall Girls will serve as hostesses.

A block past the First Theater is the Casa Soberanes, the "House of the Blue Gate," now a private residence, but where, on tour day, women in authentic costumes will be making tortillas.

The fifth stop on the tour is Casa Serrano, built in 1845 and now the headquarters of the Monterey History and Art Association.

Colton Hall is the sixth stop, and when it was built was the most elaborate and substantial building in California. The state's first constitution was drawn up here, and live-action delegates will reinact the signing of the document on the actual table that was used in 1849.

The tour then moves to the stately Larkin House at the corner of Jefferson and Calle Principal, which served as the U. S. Consulate from 1843 until the last days of the Mexican regime in 1848.

Stop number eight is the House of the Four Winds, built about 1830 and originally used as a residence by Mexican Governor Alvarado.

On Polk Street, is the Casa Amesti, one of the best examples of the two-story Monterey Colonial architecture in the state. Built in 1825, it is now leased as a private residence, and for the 1969 tour, will be the scene of a festive ball.

Casa Abrego is the 10th stop on the tour, and it is an adobe steeped in history and legend. Built by Don Jose Abrego in 1834 from timbers salvaged from the "Natalie," the ship used by Napoleon in his escape from Elbe, and the same ship that brought Abrego to Monterey.

Nearing the end of the tour, the Robert Louis Stevenson House on Houston Street will feature a scene of Stevenson in the room he occupied while living in Monterey in 1879.

The climax of the "Walk Through History" celebration will be the stop at the Royal Presidio Chapel on Church Street. The Chapel was built on the original site of the Presidio, which dates back to 1770, and the history of Monterey will be dramatized here by vignette showing the Franciscan friars teaching Indian neophyte children.

To provide a respite for tired feet, the association will operate two stops for refreshments.

Tea will be served at the Estrada Adobe on Tyler Street from 2 to 5 p.m., and is included in the price of the ticket.

In addition, an al fresco luncheon will be served the Memory Garden adjoining the Pacific Building on Pacific Street.

Tickets may be purchased through the Monterey History and Art Association, P.O. Box 805, Monterey, 93940, or at any of the adobes on the day of the tour.

Last Showing Tonight of Kennedy Film At Village Theater Sponsored By AFS

Tonight is the final Monterey County showing of the United States Information Administration's widely acclaimed film "John F. Kennedy; Years of Lightning, Day of Drums," being sponsored by Carmel chapter of the American Field Service at the Carmel Village Theater.

The Kennedy film was originally made as a documentary to be shown only overseas, but its completely objective look at the administration of the ill-fated John F. Kennedy was so excellently done that congressional pressure finally caused the picture to be released in the United States.

The Carmel American Field Service will use the proceeds from the showing of the picture to finance its widespread scholarship program.

Originally founded in the early 1950s to support the interchange of students between countries, the organization disbanded in 1959 when it could not find a Carmel family which would accept a foreign student in the exchange program.

But in 1965, interest in the group was revived and the chapter reactivated, and since that time, foreign students have been exchanged each year at a cost of $850 per student.

In 1966, Tais dos Santos of Brazil spent the year with the Edwin Miller family in Rancho Rio Vista, and in 1967 Jim Buzaid of Pebble Beach spent a year in Sweden.

Later in 1967, Anne-Francoise Bathiat of France stayed with the James Harkins family in Carmel Knolls, and Sherri Stuart of Carmel is living in Vienna and will return in June.

The 1968 AFS foreign student in Grace Lim of Kota Kinabalu, Malaysia, who is living with the Jack Brices, while from Carmel Athena Shudde is in Argentina and Lynn Fryback is in Japan.

Loopholes In Motel Expansion Law Plugged By Planning Commission

One more step was taken to close loopholes in the existing residential-area motel control law when the Carmel Planning Commission at last week's study session approved an amendment which would correct flaws in the original ordinance.

The amendment now goes to the City Council, which has power to make it law.

Attention was centered on loopholes in the control law at the time Edgemere Cottages sought, and received, permission to increase building coverage for two of its units while remodeling them. Despite expressed opposition, the City Council felt compelled to grant the Edgemere request because the language of the motel control ordinance did not clearly prohibit the expansion which Edgemere owners sought.

The new amendment specifically prohibits any increase in site area, in number of units, in building coverage, and in kitchen-use, at any of the recently legalized motels in Carmel residential areas. And the Planning Commission, by its action, last week, urged the City Council to adopt it.

In other action, the Planning Commission established lot sizes and restrictions which would govern subdivision of the Flanders estate property.

The Commission regulations provides for an average lot size of 12,500 square feet for the Flanders property, and for a maximum of 40 building sites.

A third restriction states that lots extending to the eastern city limits must have a minimum size of 10,000 square feet.

Home Show Will Feature 21 Rooms By Interior Designers

The "Bouquet of Interiors" Home Show is slated for May 16-18 at Monterey County Fairgrounds, with a display of 21 room interiors to be designed and presented by major interior designers and home furnishings firm of the Monterey Peninsula and Salinas.

Living rooms, dining rooms, bedrooms, bath and sitting rooms are all to be included, with each designer taking a flower for his or her theme. Each display will include a bouquet of the fresh flowers that provided the inspiration.

The Children's Home Society is sponsoring this major home furnishings event, and will hold a Champagne Preview on Thursday, May 15 for which its members are selling tickets. The show itself will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday, with the dollar entry fee to be given in donation to the group's charitable cause (adoption of young children in the local area).

There is also a lively speakers' program planned, offering talks on everything from cookery to decorating children's rooms. Speakers include local experts as well as a staff member from House & Garden and a prominent San Francisco decorator. Anyone purchasing the entry ticket will also be admitted to the talks.

This is the third of these big Home Shows which, in other years, have brought thousands to the Monterey County Fairgrounds to see what's happening in decorating and to gain excitement for their own home furnishing plans.

The American Institute of Interior Designers, through its local chapter, will give "Advice on the House" from a staffed booth where the public may go to get the best advice on home decorating—and gratis!

Tickets will be available at the Fairgrounds entrance.

Board Approves School Insurance

Robert L. Little of the Carmel Association of Insurance Agents was awarded a three-year contract totaling $17,761 per year by the Carmel Unified School District Board at its meeting last night.

Little's bid was the lowest among the 60 bids received, which ranged as high as $38,000.

While it was 35 per cent higher than the last contract, fire insurance has risen 40 per cent in recent years.

Replacement value of the buildings and equipment was increased by $1,742,000; coverage for equipment theft increased $750,000; coverage on steam boilers at the high school rose by $390,000, and the board insured the District Superintendent for $1 million, and $2 million for personal liabliity.

Summer work sessions on individualizing instruction were authorized at a possible cost of $16,000.

The superintendent was authorized to proceed with a program of employing teacher aides in lieu of certificated staff under field testing conditions.

The resignations of three high school teachers—Carol Head, counselor, Richard Charles, Spanish teacher and Sally Equinoa, physical education teacher — were accepted.

The improvement of music and art programs for the 1969-70 school year was approved at an added cost of $12,500.

A gift from Francois van del Wal of several French and Spanish books for the high school was accepted with gratitude, and a report on scheduling for next year was made by Middle School Principal Orville Rogers.

Yoga Workshop

A workshop in yoga will be conducted at Monterey Peninsula College on four Mondays — Apr. 21 and 28 and May 5 and 12 — 7 to 8:15 p.m. in the MPC gymnasium dance studio.

Workshop activities will include an introduction to proper breathing techniques and various exercises, as prescribed by the ancient Hindu system of mental discipline, so strengthen internal organs, muscles and body tissues.

Emphasis will be placed on body postures to retard aging, align the spinal column and generally improve health.

Ravi Shankar's sitar recordings will be played as background music "to introduce an air of relaxation for the exercises."

Tamara (June Kroger), who conducts a yoga program on KMST-TV, will lead the workshop. Formerly a professional tennis teacher, she studied yoga exercises and flamenco guitar in New York and "became involved" in a Gurdjieff study group for nine years.

A pre-registration fee for the MPC yoga workshop is payable at the college community services office in the administration building on campus, phone 375-9821.

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

By the time you read this, National Library Week will be well-nigh over, but it behooves us to mention it warmly because it is an important event in the library year.

In the first place, it was started in California. For several years this state celebrated California Library Week. It was a personal thing and many of us worked on committees.

It served to bring libraries more clearly into focus and to show various library functions which the general public ignored or was unaware of.

This year our main stress is upon the new Monterey Bay Area Cooperative Library System.

Just this morning we heard that our delivery van has arrived, and as soon as we have a part-time driver for it, we will begin deliveries of books. This means, of course, that books from any library in the system can be deposited at any other library, and the van will transport them to the home library. The van will also pick up books wanted for intra-library use and will deliver them to the wanting library.

Our leased wire telephone system is working and general conferences by telephone have saved the librarian's many a drive to meetings.

We might as well face the fact that libraries are not really glamorous. But they are service agencies which can bring to the reader the great thoughts of the ages, and in a system like ours they can deliver quickly.

This library is always alert to bring new services to our area, and we have a new one to talk about today. Because we collect seriously in the arts, we have agreed to a new policy offered by the Abrams Publishing Company.

We receive all of their new art books as published.

We have the privilege of either buying them at a special discount, or returning them to the publisher.

Recently three came and we are keeping all three. Do not ask for them right away because they will have to be cataloged. The first one is entitled Pre-Columbian Art of Mexico and Central America and is by Hasso von Winning. It is a big book which consists mainly of plates many of which are in stunning color.

The second of the book is called Embrace of Life and is on the work of Gustav Vigeland of Norway. He is an especially interesting artist because most of his work is owned by the city of Oslo, and by agreement may never be removed from his native Norway. His figures are tremendous in size and concept.

The third book is on the work of Giorgio de Chirico and reproduces 194 of his drawings. The short text was done by Luigi Carluccio. We are trying to enlarge our collection of materials on modern artists and this last book helps us along that line.

Remember to check the weekly list of new books on our bulletin board, for we have them every week of the year as well as on National Library Week.

A happy LNW to all of you! ! ! !

Daylight Time Saving Bank Begins

It's that itme again.

As if it weren't enough to be baffled by that ". . . if line O is smaller than line X, but larger than line Z, then enter your wife's first name on line Q and deduct the square root of last month's grocery bill . . ." sort of foolishness inherent in that Apr. 15 tax duty, here it is clock puzzle time again.

Sunday morning (that's right, Sunday, Apr. 27. Does it seem like it gets earlier every year?) we all go back on Daylight Saving Time.

Many are the little memory tricks designed to get us to the church on time.

Spring forward, fall back, for instance, would indicate that at this end of the Savings Time period we set our clocks an hour ahead.

Or should it be fall forward, spring back?

Anyway, all we can do is wish you good luck on Sunday. At least we won't have to worry about the reverse process until the last Sunday in October, and maybe we'll have it figured out by then.

Alan G. Pattee: 1913-1969

California State Assemblyman, Monterey County

Alan Pattee, California State Assemblyman from Monterey County is gone, and his loss will be felt acutely.

He not only will be missed in the halls of the State Capitol in Sacramento, but his booming voice, facile speaking ability and his keen mind will be missed by his constituents.

Because of Alan Pattee's great interest and concern in the field of agricultural research and development, members of his family have asked that contributions be made to the Alan G. Pattee Agricultural Research Fund in care of the Chancellor's Office, University of California at Davis 95616.

Pattee Offered Advice On A.B. 5

One of the last men to speak to Alan Pattee was Carvel Baldwin of Carmel, who talked to the Assemblyman following the Saturday meeting of the Area 7 United Republicans of California at the La Playa Hotel where Pattee and State Senator Donald Grunsky were speakers.

Baldwin asked Pattee what could be done to get Assembly Bill 5 out of the Education Committee.

AB 5, along with Senate Bill 35, repeal of a section of Jesse Unruh's (Dem, Inglewood) bill, passed last year, that would permit local boards of education to set school tax rates without consulting voters.

His reply, one of Pattee's last political statements, was for voters to voice their opinion to the Assembly Education Committee of which Victor Veysey is chairman and Robert Monagan is a member.

Persons interested in seeing these bills passed may write, telegraph or telephone the Assembly Education Committee, State Capitol Bldg., Sacramento, Calif.

Composers Provide Exciting Evening

An evening of new and some times very odd sounds which ranged from goat bells to inflated balloons being rubbed was provided by local composers at Monterey Peninsula College recently sponsored by the Music Teachers' Association of the county.

Mrs. Roy (Elayne) Chanslor of Carmel led off the program with her version of the legend of Peer Gynt in which she interpreted a rousing wedding dance by playing a harness of goat bells with Donald Eshoff on the trumpet and Fred Schaad at the piano. Ase's Death followed with Noel Felde playing the sad but appealing theme on his viola.

Dan Haerle, music instructor at the college, contributed his sonata for flute and piano played by Ray Fabrizio and Gilbert Boyer. While the Variations were pleasantly angular and interesting to listen to, the flute was too loud and dramatic for a Pastorale and the March was not in march tempo.

Some pieces for children which included Marching Music for General What's His Name were played with humor by their composer Mrs. Don R. (Gail) Harris of Pebble Beach.

Three songs by Hascal Vaughan Stewart of Carmel were sung by Jean Canada accompanied by Fred Schaad. While we had difficulty understanding the words to "Overtones," and "Easter Weather," a poem by Dora Hagemeyer of Carmel, Miss Canada's rich contralto voice and Nordic blonde beauty made up for it. Her face as well as voice expressed the love and devotion contained in the final song, "Sleep to Wake."

Two short pieces for piano in contemporary harmony by Mrs. Stewart, Romance, and Interlude, thoughtfully played by Mr. Schaad, followed.

Then came the loudest, most hysterical cacophany of sounds ever heard by the reviewer. Called Homage to a Rectangle Divided, it was devised or perpetrated by S. Barrett Williams of Salinas for seven performers and tape system.

The sound of the tape system was mild compared with high shrieks of the saxaphones and other assorted bicycle horns blown by Williams who assaulted a cello, rubbed balloons, exploded them, sounded baby rattles and threw confetti.

The pianist Emily B. Williams kept her cool throughout, but the sound of the exotic tamboura instruments played by Arthur I. Greenburg were lost to these ears.

It was worse than New Years' Eve on Broadway, the outside of a music school, and old fashioned 4th of July all put together. A tremendous catharsis for any low spirits, it left everyone in a happy mood.

After intermission the five pieces for piano by Robert S. Brown of Salinas played by Gilbert Boyer sounded gratefully restful.

But we were not to rest our ears for long. The final number on the program by David L. Mulder of Salinas contained much percussion as well as piano, tuba and other horns, but it sounded put together by a serious composer.

Joel Andrews Harp Quintet Charms

A harp quintet in which four beautiful young ladies in long emerald green velvet gowns surrounded their teacher, Joel Andrews, in white Nehru suit delighted the eyes and ears of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association last week.

Perhaps their most successful pieces were those from Ravel's Mother Goose Suite, Eric Satie's Gymnopedie and two by Carlos Salzedo in which subtle delicacy is best expressed by the harp.

In the transcription of Bach's Sixth French Suite, they sounded not quite sure of themselves.

Mr. Andrews' composition, Spherical Song, was light, airy and melodic and seemed to want to float in space.

The final portion, Popular Fantasy, was disappointing but since there were so many children and young people in the audience, perhaps it is in order to try to please them now and then.

Pen Pals Wanted For French Children

As a result of a French television program "Jimmy de Californie," filmed at Middle School and featuring Jimmy Kaller, the son of the Robert Kallers who have Galerie de Tours, hundreds of French children have requested names and addresses of pen pals.

The film showed a day in the life of a young California boy and took him for a visit to Disneyland. Part of the program was a birthday party for Perla Armanasco on the patio of her home on Hatton Road.

Others appearing in the film were Laurent Longfellow, Chip Bates, son of Dr. and Mrs. Talbot Bates, Anne d'Avenas of Pebble Beach, Kent Fielding, son of Mrs. Bob Bray; Ted and Jeff Hall, and Zabie and Carole Johnston, daughters of Mrs. Sidney Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. August Armanasco, whose friends in charge of Walt Disney Productions in France, had asked their help, were given the task of selecting the children who had to be able to speak French.

Pen pals may write M. Cobast, Office de Radiodiffusion Television Francaise, 116 Avenue de President Kennedy, Paris.

Music Competition For Students

Monterey Peninsula College's annual instrumental music competition, with several $400 scholarships to be offered for the 1969-70 academic year, has been declared open by Dr. Harvey Marshall, MPC music department chairman.

The scholarships, funded by the Monterey Jazz Festival, are available for junior college students, graduating high school seniors and others qualifying for admission to MPC who can perform on brass, woodwind or percussion instruments, strings or piano. Winners will be expected to major or minor in music and maintain a 2.2 grade average in music courses while attending MPC.

Application blanks are available now at the various Peninsula high schools and at the college music department and must be submitted to Dr. Marshall before May 2, along with transcript of high school record.

Auditions will be held May 20, afternoon and evening in the MPC music hall. Auditioners will be expected to demonstrate musicianship, tone quality and technical skill by playing a solo written for their instrument or an extended passage from a band or orchestra piece. In addition, a passage of "medium difficulty" for sight reading will be furnished by the judges.

Musical Comments

By Margot Hyatt

Rosalind Elias Captivates Audience

Carmel Music Society subscribers were treated to the sound of a gorgeous voice, expertly produced and handled by the glamorous young Rosalind Elias, Metropolitan mezzo-soprano, last week.

The quality, volume and flexibility of her voice were equal to all the demands made upon it, from the familiar arias of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Verdi's "Il Trovatore" to the animated French songs by Canteloube and the fiery Spanish songs by de Falla and Obradors.

Her songs in well-enunciated English included "Velvet Shoes" by Randall Thompson and the popular spiritual "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" arranged by Hamilton Forrest.

The natural quality of her voice had a marvelous tone color. Her smiles and the completely feminine gestures of her head and hands were irresistable and her graceful deep curtseys made us all feel like kings and queens.

Warm applause and foot stamping was rewarded with two encores, the "Habanera" from "Carmen" and Noel Coward's "I'll See You Again."

Camille Olaeta, well known Peninsula accompanist, shared in the applause in as much as she stepped in with only one rehearsal to take the place of Stanley Sonntag who was ill.

Miss Elias is the 13th child in a close-knit Lebanese-American family living in Lowell, Mass., her birthplace. One shudders to think of the loss had her mother gone in for family planning.

In August Miss Elias will make her debut at the Salzburg Festival singing the role of Dorabella in Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte."

Linda Purdy, Voice to Watch

Linda Purdy, wife of the music instructor at Middle School, William Purdy, emerged as the Peninsula voice to watch in the Opera Gala at Monterey Peninsula College Sunday to benefit voice students in Dr. Harvey Marshall's classes at the college.

NEW PIANIST — Jon Paul, is appearing nightly in the Serra Room at the Holiday Inn, and proving very popular with his own arrangements of semi-classical and other favorites. In the few months that he has lived in Carmel he has acquired a large number of piano students who had previously lost interest in playing.

She is a graduate of San Francisco State where she was in the opera workshop.

A mezzo-soprano with a full rich voice, absolutely on pitch, she was accompanied by her husband. Very attractive looking, she has acting ability as well.

Another young singer, Dennis Eberling, showed exceptional ability as a baritone.

A beautiful young mezzo-soprano with an established reputation in the Bay area was Carol Burch who will be a featured soloist with the Bach Festival this summer.

Young Peninsula singers well known here were Robert Armstead, bass-baritone, Norma Jean Hodges, soprano, Glenna DeWeese, contralto and James Hull, tenor.

Margery Tede, mezzo-soprano, down from San Francisco, demonstrated again her dramatic ability.

Robert Arenz commented on each song before it was sung. Other accompanists were Camille Oleata, Hugo Cherke and Eberling.

Nostalgic Afternoon At The "Pops"

The atmosphere of a Viennese biergarten was recreated Sunday afternoon when families filled to overflowing the Agriculture building at the Fairgrounds to hear the "Pops" concert by the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra. It was good to see so many children present.

Acoustics of the building did justice to the lovely old Viennese melodies provided by Haymo Taeuber, the orchestra's Viennese conductor. Those who sunned themselves at tables or on the grass outside probably enjoyed the music even more as it was piped out by well regulated speakers.

High point of the first portion was the Emperor's Waltz by Strauss, which had just the right Viennese lilt.

The voice of Norma Jean Hodges singing "Celia" from Lehar's "The Merry Widow" was the high point of the second. The long unhurried phrases of her voice seemed to be born aloft to the last row by the beautifully blended orchestra. Here again phrasing was everything and no one ever sang the song better. There were many wet eyes among those old enough to have seen original productions or whose parents had loved the song.

This was followed by "Look Me Over Once" from "Der Fledermaus," another charmer sung coquettishly by Miss Hodges. She combined with Glenna DeWeese, contralto to sing a duet from Offenbach's "Tales from Hoffman."

The afternoon ended with the stirring sounds of Sousa's Stars and Stripes for which everyone stood.

No small pleasure of the afternoon was the sight of various members of the Symphony Guild in Viennese costumes such as Mrs. Walter (Vera) Lehmann and Mrs. Charles (Agnes) Trumbly. Mrs. Georgia von Richter, Mrs. Rod (Sue) Dewar, Mrs. John Julian among others helped at intermission to hand out prizes donated by local merchants.

Mrs. Cecil H. Barker of Carmel Highlands, Guild president, thanked the members of the orchestra for donating their services. She reminded the audience that merchandise was needed by the MPVS Thrift Shop in Seaside so that the proceeds from the sale from May 19 through June 2 might benefit the symphony.

There is storage space available at 723 Cannery Row, Monterey, she said. Merchandise may be brought there on Tuesdays, Thursdays or Saturdays between 10 and 2 p.m. Large items may be picked by calling 624-1457.

The engagement of Kathleen McGaughey of Carmel to William Hayes Stahl of Monterey has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. McGaughey of Carmel to William Hayes Stahl of Monterey has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. McGaughey. William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stahl of Monterey.

Kathleen was a Carmel High School graduate in 1964 and Monterey Peninsula College in 1966. There she was president of SINAWIK, a service organization and secretary of the student senate and later secretary of the MPC alumni association.

Her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGaughey live in Azusa.

William graduated from Robert Louis Stevenson School in 1964. He earned his degree in business administration in 1968 from the University of Southern California where he was a member of Sigma Chi.

A wedding at the Carmel Mission is planned in the summer followed by a honeymoon in Tahiti.

New Citizens

Brandy is the name chosen for the daughter born Apr. 4 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bumba of Carmel. Daniel Maurice is the name of the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harray of Carmel born Apr. 7.

Fred and Clara Leidig Celebrate 60th

A romance which began at a masquerade ball at the old Manzanita Hall on Ocean Avenue and Mission, to which she was invited by Isabel Martin of the Mission ranch, culminated in the marriage 60 years ago of Fred and Clara B. Leidig.

Clara Black, who lived in Salinas where she was born, came over to Carmel by bus as there were no autos in those days.

Fred, one of four brothers who operated Leidig's Grocery Store (where Kips is now), had come here several years before from Vandalia, Illinois.

Best man at their wedding in Salinas was Robert Leidig who later married Isabel Martin. Marguerite Anderson, her sister, was a bridesmaid.

Following their honeymoon in Los Angeles they returned to Carmel and were preceded down Ocean Avenue by a wedding march played on the cornet by one of the Slevin brothers who also had a store on Ocean Avenue.

A "shivaree" followed at their first home on Dolores between 9th and 10th.

There will be an anniversary party at La Playa Hotel on Apr. 27 when Fred and Clara Leidig celebrate their many years of marriage.

No doubt there will be comparisons with the old days when light was provided by a candle in a glass chimney, and heat, by wood or coal.

Fred later started a wood and coal yard at San Carlos and 7th where their son Dale now has a Texaco station. Dale has a daughter Margaret and a son Brian with two children, Sheryl and Steven, both at Woods School.

They have another son Glenn who is postmaster at the Naval Postgraduate School. His son Donald who is working in Los Angeles where he graduated from UC, will bring his family with him to help celebrate.

Barbara Jeanne Pearson Wed

Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula was the setting for the wedding Saturday of Barbara Jeanne Pearson and Richard Alan Thomas now of Saratoga. Rev. Burdett Cree performed the two o'clock ceremony for which Dr. Charles N. Pearson of Carmel gave his daughter's hand in marriage.

Barbara Jeanne wore a floor length bouffant gown of silk organza with chapel length train. The bodice and high neck were of peau d'ange lace which also edged her sleeves and held her long veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Kathy Farr of Carmel was Barbara Jeanne's maid of honor and her attendants included Miss Pam Martin of Carmel and Miss Joan Miller of Carmel Valley.

They wore floor length dresses of Saki cloth, Kathy in turquoise, the others in lime green.

The little flower girl, Miss Leslie Fenton of Carmel, was dressed in a white sprigged dress and carried a basket of spring flowers.

Best man was Robert Williams of Fresno. Ushers included Charles N. Pearson Jr., only brother of the bride, and Donald Blanks of Carmel.

Barbara Jeanne is a 1966 graduate of Carmel High School and is in her junior year at San Jose State College majoring in art history.

Richard graduated from CHS in 1965 and attended Fresno State College before enlisting in the U. S. Army. His parents, Col. (ret) and Mrs. Richard Thomas lived here several years before moving to Saratoga.

He will leave in May for his overseas assignment in the Special Forces (Green Berets), during which time his bride will complete her senior year at San Jose State.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Juarez, whose friendship began when they were school mates at Carmelo School, were married April 5. Both Evelyn (Meadows) and Ralph are members of pioneer Carmel Valley families. She is descended from James Meadows, early day resident. Ralph is a descendant of Mariano Sobranes, one of the first Valley settlers. He is a great grandson of Capt. Joe Pedro, one of the first Monterey whalers.

Childhood Friendship Flowers

The wedding of Evelyn Loraine Meadows and Ralph Clifford Juarez Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Juarez of Carmel Valley took place Apr. 5 at the First Presbyterian Church in Carmel. Dr. George Hunter Hall read the double ring service at 2 p.m. Richard Meadows of San Jose gave his daughter in marriage.

Evelyn is also the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Harper of Bishop and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meadows of Carmel Valley, honored guests, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this year.

Lifelong friend and sister of the bridegroom Rebecca Juarez was maid of honor.

Terry LeRoy Ramsey of Carmel was best man and Fred Gehring of Carmel Valley seated guests.

Yolanda Di Lorenzo of Carmel attended the guest book at the reception in the Cypress Room at the Holiday Inn.

Ralph is a graduate of Carmel High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College before entering the Air Force. He will return to Japan after their honeymoon.

Get a dishwasher.

Throw in the towel too—because a dishwasher is also a dishdryer. Fact is, a dishwasher is a real heavyweight when it comes to taking work off your hands. New models even come with pre-rinse cycles to eliminate hand rinsing. (A dishwasher also gives you a place to store dirty dishes out of sight until you're ready to wash them automatically.) REPORTS FROM RLS

by George Wing

(Editor's Note: This is the second and final report of the trip to Guatemala taken by a group of young men from the Stevenson School.)

We left Antiqua early the morning of the fifth for Guatemala City and our connection to Tikal, the archaeological highlight of the trip.

Tikal attained its height architecturally and spatially during the Classic period (250 AD to 900 AD). It was the largest of the Maya cities, at one time being the home of nearly 10,000 people and occupying an area of 25 square miles.

We learned that it was different from other Mayan complexes in that it was a city in the true sense of the word and not just a religious center.

Our accommodations were interesting as few of us had experienced sleeping under mosquito netting or showering in turpentine water. Apparently this water is the Guatemalan equivalent of the "24-hour deordorant soap."

Our first afternoon we treked from the inn, on an old Maya causeway, to the heart of the ancient city of Tikal, the Great Plaza.

This ceremonial plaza is bounded on either end by Temple I, which rises 145 feet, and Temple II, which recahes 125 feet.

To one side of the Great Plaza is the Central Acropolis, believed by those who have excavated there, to be a palace; to the other side is the North Acropolis, a complex of small temples which have been exposed by trenching to show the earlier structures upon which they were constructed.

The University of Pennsylvania has been engaged here since 1956 in the Tikal Project. The excavation of these buildings, as well as numerous other structures in this area, is the result of this project.

To visualize the enormity of the university's task can only be by an actual visit to this, the world's largest archaeological dig. Just within the seven square mile heart of the ruins lie about 3,000 separate structures still to be excavated!

One of the most interesting "activities" of the ancient Mayan must have been the etching of "graffitti" in the plaster of all the structures we visited. In the Central Acropolis, for example, is a dancing figure, about four inches high, of a man with a headress of waving feathers.

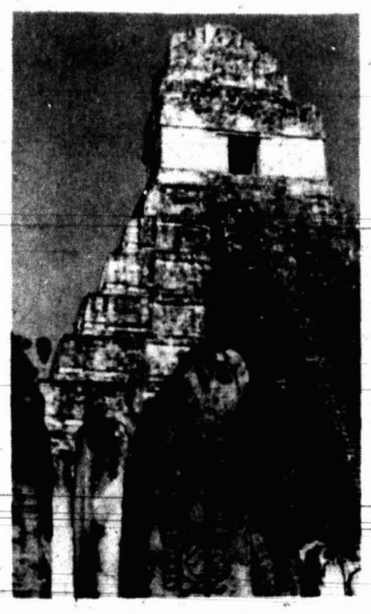
The simple expression of his face was interesting and prompted the question of whether these etchings were done as graffitti is done today or if they had significant decorative purposes.

Mrs. Trick, whom we met while in Tikal, is doing the basic research on and recording of these etchings — her report will be published with those by other scientists in the university's report which is due in 1971.

As the day grew toward its close, several of us took the long way back to the Inn to see the Temple of Inscriptions. The back and sides of the roof comb of this temple are inscribed with hyroglyphs carved to form a text comparable to those found on the stela. What these glyphs say is something that only time and hard work will reveal.

That evening was a truly memorable experience. We set-out at 9 p.m. for the Great Plaza to sit atop Temple II and contemplate what it must have been like more than 1,000 years ago in Tikal.

As the full moon took its nightly path over the roof comb of Temple I, two members of the group climbed to the top of the neighboring temple where they sang and played the bongo drums adding to the intriguing qualities of the night. Upon our return, the remaining hours of the night were spent in much less romantic fashion . . . chasing gigantic insects out of our rooms.



TEMPLE I — This magnificent Mayan Temple is located at Tikal in Guatemala, and was the site of the last day's visit of 15 RLS students during Easter Week. A huge stela with its mysterious glyphs is in the foreground.

One horned beetle, which happened into my sink, hissed as I approached him with a tube of toothpaste to dispatch him out the door.

The next morning we climbed Temple III and the largest building in Meso-America, Temple IV which towers 212 feet. Both of the structures are still covered, except for their roof combs, by earth and trees.

By way of a steel ladder, we were actually able to climb to the top of the roof comb of Temple IV.

The vantage point was fantastic. In all directions, for as far as we could see, was the Peten Jungle, alive with magnificient flora and fauna.

The morning of the 7th we saw the Tikal Museum and its tomb, reconstructed as it was in Temple I. We then boarded the plane for Guatemala City and RLS.

As we left, we flew over the once great city and thought of how much more there is to see, not only of Tikal, but of the entire Republic of Guatemala.

STARER — The giraffe is an extremely curious beast. By curious we mean that he not only is curious in appearance, with his elongated neck, mottled coloring and whispy tail (highly prized as a fly brusher-off, as if you didn't know), but he's also curious about you and that silly black box you're aiming at him. Along with elephants that stare, rhinos that stare, lions that stare, and other jungle beasts that are as curious about you as you are about them, giraffes are part of the Four Winds African tour now being offered by Dick Phinney Travel Agency.

Two Carmel Artists in Seaside Show

Two Carmel artists have combined their best works to present an outstanding art exhibit in the Seaside City Hall that will run through the month of April.

Miss Sophie E. Harpe and Miss Jeanne Fosnot have placed a careful selection of their paintings in the City Hall, and they are on view at all hours that the building is open for business.

Miss Fosnot, who is a graduate of the University of Nebraska with a master's degree from San Jose State in painting and graphics, is a member of Artists' Equity, as well as at the state, county and local level.

She presently teaches art in both Carmel High School and the Carmel Adult School.

Miss Harpe graduated in architecture from New York School of Design, and from the Beaux Arts and Julian Academies in Paris. She has done graduate work at UCLA.

She is a life member of the Monterey Museum of Art and the Carmel Art Association, and at present is serving on the board of directors of the latter organization. She has been a resident of Carmel for the past 30 years.

College Chorus In 'Lord Nelson Mass'

A repeat performance of Haydn's "Lord Nelson Mass" has been scheduled by the Monterey Peninsula College Chorus for Sunday, Apr. 27, 3 p.m. at the Carmelite Monastery on Highway 1 south of Carmel.

The public is cordially invited to attend without charge.

First performance of the mass — and probably the first on the Peninsula, according to Dr. Harvey Marshall, chairman of the MPC music department — was given Apr. 13 at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Carmel.

Soloists on that occasion, who will also be featured in the Apr. 27 concert, were students Patrick Duval and Eleanor Johnson and guest soloists Norma Jean Hodges and Robert Armstead.

Crispo has studied at the Arizona School of Art and the Carmel Art Institute as well as with individual artists. His works have won first place in the California State Fair.

What's doing?

INVEST-IN-AMERICA WEEK—April 27 - May 3

The Invest-in-America Council advises "Your savings and investments mean money at work for greater economic growth."

About a year ago in this column, I told of our efforts to put a halt to malicious and obscene calls. Today, I'm happy to report that the tide is turning in the battle against abusive telephone callers.

By working closely with Monterey Peninsula law enforcement agencies, giving many of our employees special training, and using a variety of new electronic devices, many of the callers have been identified.

The best advice I can offer you, should you receive such a call, is to hang up. Don't give the caller a chance to get started. This usually deprives the caller of the main thing he wants — an audience. However, should the calls continue, I encourage you to call our Monterey Business Office, where a specially trained representative will be available to assist you.

Don't miss the Bell System's TV Special, "A Look on the Light Side," Saturday, April 26 at 7:30 p.m. on NBC. It's a fast-moving musical venture that takes you on an unexpected travel tour around the country. Check your local TV listings for the channel.

If your service or social club is interested in a behind the scenes look at telephone service, just give us a call. We now have speakers available for "More Words Less Wires," a lecture-demonstration tracing the history of telephone interconnection from the use of a single wire through the development of cable, coaxial, microwave, satellite and laser beam applications.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"What's Still Cooking in Old Monterey"

This is what has been "cooked up" for the annual Adobe Tour in Monterey on Saturday, Apr. 26 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sponsored by the Monterey History & Art Association, this year's event extraordinario is "A Walk Through History," with historical Monterey vignettes portrayed by actors "live and in color."

How does "Party Plans" fit into the local scene? Most easily, since fiestas are what we thrive upon — yesterday's and manana's.

Twelve historic buildings will be shown to commemorate the forthcoming 200th anniversary of the occupation by Spaniards in 1770.

So, naturally, we follow along with some authentic old recipes of Spanish-Mexican origin generously given to us for your enjoyment today.

What a temptation to reach back into history with the Adobe Tour. But we must also adhere to kitchen facts. That is our role and an appetizing one it is. Melded into Monterey's background, the dishes that follow are as workable and eatable today as way back then.

Let's start with the Old Whaling Station, the second stop of the tour. This was built in 1855 and became a boarding house for whalers making headquarters in Monterey. More recently Mr. and Mrs. George Leutzinger were the managing owners of the "Whaling Station Inn." It is thanks to Jane Leutzinger that we are giving you her grandmother's cherished recipe for

Spanish Beans

Soak 2½ cups Spanish beans (pink or red or pintos, dried) overnight with water to cover. Then cook slowly about 15 minutes.

Add one No. 2½ can solid pack tomatoes, 2 good sized onions, peeled and cut up, 2 garlic cloves, crushed, 4-6 dried chili peppers, crumbled. (Ed's note: perhaps one chili pepper?) (No, Ed, some like it hot).

Simmer for 2 hours or until beans are tender but not broken. Add 3 T. bacon drippings with salt to taste. Finally add ¼ lb. sharp Cheddar cheese, broken into bits. Let meld. Service muy caliente! ! ! ! Enough for 6-8.

Our second recipe comes from the famous historian Mayo Hayes O'Donnell. Mrs. O'Donnell now lives in Casa Soberanes, known as "The House with the Blue Gate," built in about 1830 by Don Jose Estrada, ranking officer of the Presidio of Monterey.

In the lovely walled garden, on Tour Day, women in authentic costumes will make tortillas.

Mrs. O'Donnell originally found this recipe among the documents of the California Historical Society. An interesting and early California dish, it was first made to "celebrate a successful hunt for the grizzly bear."

Old Adobe Tamalon

Lightly brown in 1 cup olive oil, 1 finely sliced large red onion, 2 garlic cloves, 2 green peppers, chopped. Add 1 qt. canned tomatoes with a pinch of baking soda.

Wash about 8 sweet red peppers, discarding stems and hot seeds. Dry these in 400 F. oven briefly to loosen pulp from skin. Break to pieces. Boil in 2 cups water slowly for 10 minutes. Put peppers and their liquid through a colander to retain pulp, and add to sauce. Mix and simmer until somewhat thickened, adding several dried mushrooms.

Disjoint a 4-lb. roasting chicken, cut breast and back into serving size pieces. Now gently brown these in about 1 cup olive oil and set aside.

Mix 2 lbs. freshly ground coarse masa (cornmeal to be found in Mexican type groceries in Monterey) with 1 qt. or more water. Cook slowly, stirring constantly with wooden spoon until too thick to stir.

Put layer of masa (do not pat down) in oiled Dutch oven. Place half of the chicken on top, sprinkle with ripe (pitted) olives, ½ cup large Malaga raisins and 1 sliced pimiento. Add sauce. Repeat, finishing top layer with only masa and sauce. Cover and cook for 3 hours in 350 F. oven. Serves 6.

Keep half of the sauce to use (well heated) at the table. Pass grated sharp cheese. Mellow red wine. Quo bueno.

Colton Hall is one of the most important places to visit as it is the site of the convention under which California was admitted to statehood in 1850.

Mrs. Kay Curtis of Monterey was appointed by the State of California in 1949 to be Chairman of the Restoration of Colton Hall. It is due to her foresight that this beautiful building is what it is today.

Mrs. Curtis contributes this early California recipe for Tamale Loaf which was given to her about 40 years ago by Josefa Hubbard.

Monterey Tamale Loaf

One fourth pound salt pork, cut up and fried until brown. In same skillet add ½ cup chopped onion, 1 clove garlic, minced, 1 can cream style corn; 3 ripe tomatoes; butter 'the size of an egg'; 3 t. chili powder (we suggest cutting this down if you don't like it hot); 1 cup ripe chopped olives; cook 15 minutes gently. Add 3 beaten eggs, 1½ t. salt, 1 cup milk to above. Then stir in gradually 1½ cups yellow cornmeal, cooking slowly 5 minutes. "Set on back of stove" (to thicken). Pour into greased baking dish, preferably Mexican, and bake 30 minutes at 350 F. Serves 4 generously.

The following old recipe for enchiladas is contributed by Mrs. Cyril V. Church, great great granddaughter of Jose Manuel Boronda of early Monterey fame.

This popular dish could have been prepared and served at any of the adobes on the tour. There is a similarity among these recipes as they all contain many of the same ingredients. But this adds to the adventure of trying them all and choosing the one which most appeals to your own particular taste.

You'll need 12 tortillas for this recipe.

Sauce

Remove stems and seeds from 1 lb. of dry red chili peppers and rinse well, but do not soak. Put on to boil slowly in 3 quarts of water for about 45 minutes. Drain well. Add 2 quarts of cold water, and squeeze the peppers until the water is thick and highly colored, and the peppers are well cleaned of pulp. Sieve to remove skins. Season well with salt, paprika (about 3 t.), a good pinch of dried oregano leaves and ½ t. of vinegar. Saute two or three mashed cloves of garlic in hot fat, remove, and brown in sufficient flour for thickening. Add hot liquid, stirring quickly to prevent lumping. Set aside to cool.

Filling

Chop 8 onions and 5 cloves of garlic and fry in 4 T. of olive or cooking oil until limp and glossy. Chop fairly fine 4 hard cooked eggs, and add to the onion mixture and set aside. Do not continue to cook the onions after the egg has been added. Chop or shred finely 1 lb. of Tillamook sharp cheddar cheese. Set onions and cheese aside, and quickly fry the bought tortilles. (The filling may be made a day or two ahead and kept refrigerated.)

Method of Combining

Oil bottoms of two shallow aluminum pans. Do not use tin. Dip tortillas in the sauce one at a time, and lay in the pan. Add 1 T. of the onion mixture, 1 T. of cheese, a pitted green or ripe olive. A T. of sauce, and roll in the pan like a jelly roll. Flatten the ends of the rolled and filled tortilla, and proceed with the rest, taking care not to crowd in the pan so they will not be broken when served. Sprinkle generously with cheese, garnish with olives, and bake in a moderate oven about 10 to 15 minutes, until they puff up and the cheese is well melted. The addition of finely chopped parsley before serving adds to the color of the dish. This quantity makes 12 enchiladas.

Our best thanks to Mrs. W. Webster Downer, chairman of this year's adobe tour.

Mrs. Richard Shaw collected the recipes for our special presentation and is in charge of hostesses.

Mrs. Doris Eberhardt has assembled genuine old costumes for the hostesses at each adobe to wear.

Mrs. L. G. Cagwin has planned the barbecued chicken menu to be served al fresco from 11:30 — 2 in the Memory Garden, Pacific Building. Tea will also be served from 2 to 5 at the Estrada Adobe.

SANCTIMONIOUS SPINSTER — Veteran actress Betty Fowlston, left, plays the psychopathic puritan who drives a young girl to suicide and is thus marked for death in the current production of "Ten Little Indians" at the Circle Theater. Jean McBride is making her first Carmel Theater appearance as the secretary, Vera Claythorne, and turns in a highly polished performance. Playing weekends. Call 624-2669 for reservations.

CHS Production of 'Oklahoma' Opens At Brey Hall for Six Performances

Carmel's "Oklahoma!" opens this week for a six performance run.

Heralding Carmel High's entrance into musical comedy production, the popular show will offer full cast and orchestra all contained within the arena stage of Brey Hall. Performers will be incorporating all areas of the theatre to enhance the sense of intimate theatre.

For interest and variety, several of the cast members are double-cast. The opening matinee will feature Kevin Huston as Curley, Susan Rudzis as Laurie, Rick Humm as Will and Kitty Hendrix as Ado Annie.

Chris Hansen, Kitty Hendrix — who has observed both key female roles — and Debbie Berry alternate in the parts.

Kitty has been seen in former high school productions as well as at the White Oaks.

Chris is an accomplished instrumental musician, Kevin is a newcomer to Carmel as is Debbie who brings experience from Palo Alto little theatre with her, while Rick is a versatile performer with Los Angeles schools musical training.

Bill Faulkner, familiar to many Peninsulans for his past roles at the Old Wharf theatre opposite Boris Karloff and Ethel Waters, will play Ali Hakin — the itinerant peddlier.

Proceeds from the show will have a twofold purpose; to support the production and to gain funds for a drama grant - in - aid to a graduating senior who intends to follow some area of performing arts.

Carmel's "intimate Oklahoma" opens with a 4 p.m. matinee Apr. 24. Evening performances will be Apr. 25 and 26, May 1 and 2 at 8 p.m. with a second matinee on Apr. 30. Tickets at Abinanti's, Carmel's Varsity Shop and at the door. Reservations at 624-8854.

Theatre Guide

Everybody Loves Opal — Oh so funny comedy about three of the most inept con artists ever portrayed, who unsuccessfully try to bilk a kindly lady junk dealer out of her shoes, then form equally unsuccessful plots to knock her off for her insurance. One of the wackiest plays ever produced. Now at the Studio Theater-Restaurant weekends. Better call 624-1661 for reservations.

Ten Little Indians — Alternating comedy and chilling suspense make this Circle Theater production great entertainment. Direction is well paced, acting more than adequate, and it all adds up to another hit from the Community Players. Reservations recommended by calling 624-2669.

Movie Review

Rosemary's Baby — Big name cast includes Mia Farrow, John Cassavetes, Ruth Gordon, Ralph Bellamy and Sidney Blackmer in a rare film appearance.

The Odd Couple — Jack Lemmon as fussy Felix and Walter Matthau the messy reporter team to make this one of the year's most hilarious films.

The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie — An outstanding offering with Maggie Smith as the unconventional teacher in the early 30s. Her portrayal of the flamboyant Miss Brodie is convincing and at times terrifying.

The Shoes of the Fisherman—A simple priest comes to Rome to become Pope and strives for peace amid the turmoil of the modern world. Anthony Quinn, Laurance Olivier, Oskar Werner, John Gielgud and Vittorio De Sica.

Support Your Local Sheriff — A lively spoof on westerns. James Garner and Joan Hackett are truly funny, Garner underpulaying role as only he can handle a part.

Shalako — Adult, off-beat western that stars Brigitte Bardot (Bardot in a western? ? ?) and Sean Connery (almost as impossible as Bardot in a western). Much warfare with a tribe of most unfriendly Indians.

Finders Keepers, Lovers Weepers — This play on the nursery rhyme was directed by Russ Myer who made "Lorna," "Faster, Pussycat, Kill, Kill," and the like.

Faces — More than 50 top reviewers have included this picture in their lists of the 10 best pictures of the year. Stars John Marley, Gona Rowlands and Lynn Carin. Written and directed by John Cassavetes.

The Lion In Winter — Peter O'Toole and Katherine Hepburn turn in outstanding performances in this drama of Henry II and his queen. Great dialogue and a great film.

The Illustrated Man — Rod Steiger, almost completely covered with tattoos representing scenes from his life, is a wandering drifter. Claire Bloom is the mysterious tattooeress.

The Sergeant — Sensitive portrayal of a gruff Army sergeant by Rod Steiger who returns to an Army post in France after WW II. Convincing dialogue and outstanding acting.

The Thomas Crown Affair — Steve McQueen is young, wealthy and bored, so he masterminds a bank robbery. The insurance investigator is Faye Dunaway. They fall in love, of course.

Richard Danskin, Self-taught Artist Of Many Talents In One-man Show

by Louise Cook

Variety and versatility best describe the work of Richard Danskin, which is shown in his Gallery of Imagination on Mission St. near 6th.

This artist experiments in many styles: realistic, impressionistic, painterly and tactile.

Danskin is a native Californian and expresses his love for San Francisco in his conceptions of cable cars and bridges emerging from the fog.

One view of the City and Bay Bridge is immersed in the overwhelming blues of sky and bay. A night scene of the city focuses on a cable car ascending a gayly lighted Powell St.

Danskin is completely self-taught in all art lines. He draws upon his architectural background which includes designing more than 600 homes, many of which have won special awards; designing and building automobiles, one of which won the International Car of the Year Award in Paris, and designing and racing sailboats.

He is now featured in two one-man shows, one at the American Savings and Loan in Monterey and the other in San Francisco.

LIGHT AS A FEATHER — Retired Navy Commander Robert Pelton, right, Scoutmaster of Carmel Troop 32, accepts a down sleeping bag from Lazlo Toldi, hikemaster for the troop. Pelton was honored last Thursday at a Boy Scout Court of Honor at which more than 125 scouts, scouters and parents were present.

Pelton Honored by Carmel Troop 32

Commander Robert Pelton, (USN Ret), scoutmaster of Carmel Troop 32, was honored Thursday night at a potluck supper and Court of Honor at the Carmel scouthouse.

More than 125 people attended the affair at which Commander Pelton was presented a troop photograph album and a down sleeping bag.

"This bag ought to make my pack feel light as a feather," punned Pelton and since he has hiked more than 300 miles with the troop under full pack, the scouts felt this gift was appropriate.

At the Court of Honor ceremonies following the potluck dinner, one-year pins were presented to David Halliday, Francis Toldi, Phillip Beardsley, Tony Mariano, Tom Apger, Dana Booth and Bruce Service.

Two-year pins were presented to Kent Murtland, John Rudgis, John Toldi, Jeff Walker, and Paul Shakram.

Stan Canham, Paul Sherman, and Mike Pelton received three-year pins and Eric Garrison and Tom Pelton received their four-year pins.

Eagle Scout Pete Ingalls received the only five-year pin in the troop.

Jimmy McFall received his second class badge and Eric Garrison received the Life award and his 15th merit badge.

Troop 32 is known as a hiking and camping troop. Pete Ingalls has hiked more than 400 miles and many boys have gone past the 300 mark. Lazlo Toldi, hikemaster for the troop, keeps records of how many miles each boy has hiked.

Talcott Announces New Carmel P.O. Services May 3

Congressman Burt L. Talcott announced today that the Post Office Department will establish regular rural routes 4 and 5 at Carmel, effective May 3.

Talcott said, "These new routes will provide needed relief to presently overburdened rural routes 1, 2 and 3."

Rural route 4 will consist of 12.95 miles and serve 466 families through 422 boxes.

Rural route 5 will travel 19.40 miles and will serve 378 families through 345 boxes.

The congressman said that the Post Office has advised him that there will be no additional cost to establish this service.

'House of Ideas' Opens In P.G.

Norman Winslow has his own House of Ideas. Well-known on the peninsula for many years as a painting contractor, Winslow has recently opened his new store, which he calls "Winslow's House of Ideas."

The new shop will not only offer his continued services as a painting contractor, but will also specialize in upholstering, draperies, and complete interior decorating.

He will also feature a complete line of Dunne paints, an assortment of different types of wallpaper to go with the painting and a special selection of fine antiques.

Mrs. Alice Roberts, a resident of the Peninsula for many years, who has worked as a decorator, dress-designer and has owned two dress shops, has added her talents to Winslow's in creating "Winslow's House of Ideas."

Mrs. Roberts will assist in operating the new store in addition to acting as an interior decorating consultant.

According to Mrs. Roberts, Winslow's is a new type of shop for a paint store doesn't usually offer decorating services in addition to some of the other features of the shop.

Not only antiques but a complete art gallery is another future aim of the new shop, she said.

Winslow has been in business since 1931, and his business as a painting contracness is the oldest of its type on the Peninsula. Raised on the Peninsula, Winslow attended Pacific Grove schools and has done the painting for such places as the old Del Monte hotel and the Naval Postgraduate school.

A-Z Rental Makes Lawn Care Easy

Spring is the time of year to begin the beauty treatment on the family lawn.

For a lush, healthy and attractive greensward in summer, a real compliment to the beauty of your home, preparatory steps must be taken now. These include thorough raking or combing, an initial mowing, fertilizing, spot seeding and ridding the lawn of weeds and fungi.

"While this involves work, expenses can be kept to a minimum by renting the necessary tools and equipment," Charles Pitman A to Z Rental Center, at 1169 Forest Ave., said.

Such things as mowers, combers, rollers, seeders, trimmers, edgers, sweepers and fertilizer spreaders all can be rented at nominal cost on an hourly or daily basis, he said. Pruning saws, hedge shears, sprayers and weed mowers are available, also.

"One of the advantages of renting this equipment," Pitman said, "is that the customer is not faced with a major outlay of cash for something he doesn't use too often, plus the cost of maintaining and storing these tools."

Pitman also explained that the use of power tools not only makes the job of yard and lawn maintenance easier, but the time saved allows the customer a lot more leisure.

"In this regard, families who are making plans for a camping vacation can benefit by a unique plan introduced by A to Z Rentals last year.

"Our 'Reserve it here, pick it up there" allows outdoor enthusiasts to rent their vacation needs here and pick up the equipment at an A to Z outlet near their campsite.

"So between the lawns, the shrubbery, home repairs requiring power tools, and the call of the outdoors, A to Z Rental is the one-stop answer to your problems."

MARKET COMMENTARY

Dow Theory Forecasts Letter dated Apr. 18 concludes "Continue to use sell-offs for buying stocks for an extension of the spring rally but become increasingly selective over the next 60 to 90 days."

"While we are anticipating further near-term rally following the current irregularities, the rail average looks anything but healthy and if this average does not come to life pretty soon, trouble is bound to develop."

DEATHS

Hazel Durham, whose husband, Elliott (Metz) Durham used to own and operate a hardware store on Ocean Avenue from 1924 to 1932, died in Nottingham, England, her birthplace, on Apr. 4.

Her husband, a native of Canada, was active in the Forest Theater where he wrote and produced two musical plays and a "Follies" and acted in numerous others.

The couple returned to England in 1932 and Durham became a light industry consultant. During the war they kept open house for Carmel servicemen.

Gail Lloyd Chandler, 82, Carmel business man and one of the founders of the American Legion post here, died Apr. 15. He opened the clothing store which he later sold to Derek Rayne. Later he bought the Carmel Cleaners which he sold in 1962. Since then he was active as an investment broker. He was a member of the Carmel Rotary Club and a 54-year member of the Monterey Elks Club. His wife Mary is his sole survivor.

Mabel Hart, 76, mother of Mrs. John Rennels, died Apr. 12 in Moose Lake, Minn.

Milton Young, 74, Carmel resident for seven years, died unexpectedly Apr. 15. A veteran of WWI, he was in the construction industry in San Jose before retiring. He is survived by his wife Catherine of Carmel and a daughter.

James Carpenter, 71, a retired horse fancier for Del Monte Properties, died Apr. 14. He and his wife had lived in Carmel 38 years. Native of Dublin, Ireland he is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Peggy Gelke, who lives in Japan.

Social Security and You

By Raymond MacDonald

Q. My doctor ordered special duty nurses for me while I was in the hospital. My claim for these charges (which I paid) was rejected under Part B (medical insurance). Can I resubmit under Part A since these were a hospital expense?

A. No, unfortunately private duty nursing in the hospital is not covered by Medicare, even though the charge can run hundreds of dollars in a few days. This must be paid by the patient unless he has supplemental health insurance which covers this service.

Q. I just hired my first maid and I understand that her work is covered by Social Security. How can I report her wages?

A. If you or your husband operate a business, you may add this employee to the business quarterly return, adding the word "maid" next to her name. Should you not have a business or prefer not to report the maid on that return, write a letter to the International Revenue Service of the Social Security Administration. You will be placed on a mailing list and a form will be mailed to you at the end of each quarter which will remind you to make your report and provide a simple means by which you may do so.

Q. I am receiving my Social Security retirement benefit while working part-time. My employer deducts Social Security tax from my pay. I'm over 65 — do I still have to pay the tax?

A. Yes, your employer is correct in withholding the tax from your earnings. He also shares this responsibility by paying an amount equal to your Social Security taxes. As long as you work you continue to pay Social tax, regardless of your age or benefit status.

CV Historic Site Tour Features What Was Original 'Carmel Post Office'

Ever wonder why our village has its name hyphenated "Carmel-by-the-Sea"?

The fact is being rediscovered that the little settlement a dozen miles down Carmel Valley was the original "Carmel."

Until 1903, residents of Las Manzanitas (now Carmel) had to travel 12 miles by horseback up the Valley to get their mail at the "Carmel" postoffice in a little building that still stands as part of the White Oaks Inn in what is now Carmel Valley Village.

This, and many other fascinating and romantic facts about Carmel Valley Village area, are being brought to light by members of the Carmel Valley Women's Club who will be sponsoring a house tour Thursday, May 1.

The May Day tour will open ten houses, both historic and super modern, to awaken interest in the California Bicentennial Celebration.

The Valley's history begins when Padre Junipero Serra made it his path to San Antonio Mission near Jolon which he founded just two months after Carmel Mission.

The house tour begins at Los Laureles Lodge, the main building of which is believed to date back to the days of Dos Jose Manuel Boronda who built his dairy ranch there on a 10,000-acre Mexican land grant in the 1830's. In the 1890's it was rebuilt as a tallyho for guests from the old Del Monte Hotel and again by Mrs. Muriel Vanderbliilt Phelps as her private home.

Other stops include the Tantamount Theater; remodeled from stables built by Mrs. Phelps for her prize racing horses, the Robert McDonald home, built as extensive stables by Sam Fertig and now an elegant home with magnificent landscaping; the White Oaks Theater, an ultra modern $30,000 complex and theater training center; Carmel Valley Art Gallery, former milk house of the old Bornonda dairy farm and original site of Carmel Post Office; Jean Hofsas home and studio, a charming little house newly remodeled from the old dairy farm's bunk house and redecorated in early California style; Randolph Hilton home the magnificent hilltop home built in typical California post-adobe style just a year old; the Bettie O'Neal home, built by the pioneering Frank Porter family and possessing historic and European treasures, the Russell Ranch, built by the Crocker family and a favorite on many house tours of the past, and Holman's Guest Ranch, built by the eldest son of the founders of Holman's in Pacific Grove and sometimes called a miniature Hearst's Castle.

A tea will be served during tour hours, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at Holman's Ranch to ticket holders.

Tickets may be purchased at any of the houses or by writing Carmel Valley Women's Club, Box 407.

Proceeds will benefit youth activities and the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

"What does the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

This verse from Micah sets the theme of the Bible Lesson-Sermon on "Doctrine of Atonement" which will be heard Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

A correlative passage from the denominational textbook comments: "Every pang of repentance and suffering, every effort for reform, every good thought and deed, will help us to understand Jesus' atonement for sin and aid its efficacy; but if the sinner continues to pray and repent, sin and be sorry, he has little part in the atonement, — in the at-one-ment with God, — for he lacks the practical repentance, which reforms the heart and enables man to do the will of wisdom" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy).

Paul Caponigro Exhibit

The one man show of Paul Caponigro's photography, currently at the Friends of Photography Gallery at Sunset, is well worth a visit. The show will run through May 11th.

Paul Caponigro was born in Boston, Massachusetts in 1932. He developed an interest in photography while in high school. At the same time he nourished an early interest in music.

He spent a year at Boston University's College of Music and then switched to an apprenticeship in commercial photography. While in the army, he met and studied with Benjamin Chin, a former student of Minor White, and Ansel Adams at the California School of Fine Arts.

After leaving the army he became a free lance photographer and pursued further studies with Benjamin Chin, Alfred Richter and Minor White.

In 1960 he became a consultant to the Poloroid Corporation and began teaching photography at Boston University. He is the recipient of many honors, including a Guggenheim Fellowship.

The Friends of Photography Gallery is located at Sunset Cultural Center, 8th and San Carlos Streets, Carmel. The Gallery is open daily, except Mondays, from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Cancer Campaign

A widespread educational program, toward early detection and cure of cancer, will be conducted along with a fund raising drive in the Annual Cancer Crusade which began this month and will continue through April, according to William H. Temple, vice-president in charge of fund raising for the American Cancer Society.

An information leaflet will go to every Monterey Peninsula home, emphasizing that early discovery before cancer spreads can lead to cure and lives saved in most cases.

The Crusade's financial goal for Monterey County is $63,000 to support year-round programs of research, education and service to cancer patients.

Nationally, the Cancer Society will conduct a $20,000,000 research program, filling in where possible on government programs hit by budget cuts.

Area chairman for the drive are Col. W. W. Downer, Carmel; Mrs. Arthur Hateley, Jr. and Mrs. Roy Woods, Pebble Beach; Mrs. J. B. Martin and Mr. Milton Marquard, Carmel Valley.

County Streams Stocked With Trout For Season's Opening on May 3

The Department of Fish and Game has announced that 272,000 catchable-size trout will be stocked in 35 lakes, reservoirs and streams in 13 counties of the central coastal region before opening of the general trout season on May 3.

In Monterey County, the Upper and Lower Arroyo Seco have been stocked, as well as the Big Sur, Carmel, and Upper Nacimiento Rivers and the Los Padres Reservoir.

The department also reports that 766,000 fingerlings and sub-catchables have been stocked since last winter in eight waters of the region since the first of the year. These smaller fish are expected to grow to catchable-size by the opening of the season and provide additional fishing for California anglers.

In keeping with the policy of the Fish and Game Commission, catchable trout are planted only in waters easily accessible to the public. Some of these waters, may be bordered in part by private property, and the Department reminds anglers they must have permission of the landowner to trespass on his property.

The general trout season opens May 3 and runs through Nov. 15 with a bag and possession limit of 10 trout, but not more than 10 pounds and one fish.

There are a number of local exceptions to this rule, however, and the Department advises all anglers to check the 1969 sportfishing regulations for complete information on the waters they intend to fish. Copies of the regulations can be obtained without charge from any DFG or from license agents throughout the state.

Although most of the trout fishing in the central coastal area is dependent on planted fish, there are a number of streams which have native trout in some of the less easily reached areas.

Anglers who don't mind mixing a little hiking in with their recreation can find native trout in the headwaters of the Carmel River, Big Sur River, Arroyo Seco Creek in Monterey County.

Math Contest

Monterey County's first school mathematics competition will be held May 17 at Hartnell College, County Schools Superintendent Ed Coffin has announced.

The competition, titled "Mathletes Unite," will be open to school — nominated representatives in grades 7 through 12.

Coffin said the County Office, sponsor of the event, hopes to make the competition an annual affair, providing recognition — and additional challenge — to the county's top mathematics students. Additionally, the competition is expected to spur interest in mathematics for all students.

The contest will be held from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Participating schools are requested to send their list of competitors to Mel Schumacher, mathematics coordinator, by May 1.

Teachers and parents are urged to attend the event. During the testing period, they will be able to view current math films, observe a computer demonstration and work with the computer. During the scoring period, Dr. William Wooten of Pierce College, Los Angeles, will discuss the relevancy of mathematics ability to students entering a technological society and seeking meanful, rewarding employment.

An awards program will follow the talk.

Enos Fouratt's Specials
WE HAVE AN EXCEPTIONALLY FINE HOME up in Rancho Rio Vista which can accommodate a family requiring three bedrooms, two baths, a separate hobby or rumpus room on a lower level; a wife who enjoys a spacious bright kitchen including a breakfast area — and who demands a separate utility room; a husband who appreciates quality construction and professional landscaping plus a livable living room with a fine view. Acquisition fee is $65,000.

OUR TOP OCEAN VIEW HOME meets the same family requirements less the hobby room but adds a separate dining room in lieu of the large dining "L" of the above home. Landscaping is minimum maintenance and it is on a cul de sac. It would be most difficult to replace its 2100 square feet for the $55,000 we would like to present the owner.

UP ON CARPENTER, we have a little two-bedroom bungalow that is presently being termite cleared. It is more suitable for the retired couple or a young family with a small child. Rear yard is fenced — front is full of oaks. Owner wants this one sold. $28,500.

OUR BUILDING SITES are with and without ocean view and range in price to meet most of your requirements. Let us show you what we mean by an excellent building site.
